

About Our Company

N'etj is a pronoun in Mi'kmaq which implies "us, we, together". In Mi'kmaq, the pronoun is placed at the end of the verb.

N'etj has renamed a common consulting methodology using Mi'kmaq words to imply that N'etj's approach is working "together" with the client, hence, "us, we". N'etj really embraces this methodology as it reflects our culture and the way our ancestors used to thrive harmoniously.

Our Mission & Vision

Core Mission

To provide top-tier management consulting services that ensure successful project delivery and high client satisfaction.

Vision Statement

To become a trusted partner for management consulting in Atlantic Canada with a focus on all things Indigenous and Federal Government sectors, recognized for efficiency, adaptability, and value.

Our Methodology

The Four Phases of the N'etj Methodology are:

Phase 1: Angatemenetj | Assessment (Mi'kmaq Translation: Let's look at it together)

Phase 2: Ilatoonetj | Design (Mi'kmaq Translation: Let's fix it together)

Phase 3: Eoemenetj | Implementation (Mi'kmaq Translation: Let's use it together)

Phase 4: Ilaptemenetj | Evaluation (Mi'kmaq Translation: Let's review it together)
